APAC Full Time Analyst - Investment Banking Department

Job Description - Group Description

The Credit Suisse Analyst Program offers you the opportunity to work in a dynamic and challenging work environment and gain unique insight into the global financial services sector. During the Program, you will have the opportunity to work on both domestic and international transactions across a broad array of industries and financial products. Our bankers execute mergers and acquisitions, raise capital for clients via equity and debt offerings, guide companies through financial restructuring, discuss strategic alternatives geared towards competitive growth, and provide other advisory services.

As an Analyst, you will get to work alongside some of the industry’s best bankers and have exposure to senior people at a diverse set of companies. Our clients span all industries and regions, and through the coverage and deal teams, Analysts get the chance to have high visibility, impact and recognition. Credit Suisse’s Analysts are entrusted with a high degree of responsibility for both project management and execution, as well as client relationship building from the very beginning.

You could find yourself doing any or all of the following: analyzing companies using financial modeling and valuation techniques, examining the impact of a transaction on a client’s capital structure or analyzing the consequences of a merger or acquisition. You will also have opportunities to interact with Credit Suisse professionals and our clients at all levels, allowing you to build a network both inside Credit Suisse and outside that will strengthen your career throughout your professional life.

Furthermore, dependant upon performance, Analysts completing a third year will have the opportunity to be directly promoted to the Associate level.

Our international reach and regional breadth offers unique opportunities to execute transactions from conception to close, which differentiates Credit Suisse from our competitors.

Our opportunities span primarily across Hong Kong, Singapore and Seoul.

Program/Training

As a First-Year Analyst, you will receive intensive classroom training for [4-5] weeks in one of the major financial hubs in the world as a part of our Investment Banking Training Program that will serve as a solid foundation for any career. You will learn the basics of accounting, corporate finance, financial modelling, valuation methodologies, database skills and various banking products. The program also includes various networking and social events to allow you to meet with colleagues across the globe.

Throughout the Analyst program, you will receive ongoing product and technical training, as well as gain invaluable on-the-job experience that will further develop an Analyst’s skills and knowledge.

Qualifications

Interested candidates must be a final year student from a Bachelor, Honours or Master’s degree program and have a strong interest in building a career in Asia Pacific. Strong verbal and written knowledge of an Asian language, preferably Mandarin, though not a pre-requisite, would be considered favorably in your application. Credit Suisse is noted for the diversity of its employees, but seeks candidates with a common set of abilities – highly motivated and creative individuals who have demonstrated academic achievement, and have the ability to work independently and as a member of a team. We’ll be looking at your potential, your ability, your academic background and your extracurricular activities. We’re looking to build future leaders who add fresh perspectives to our business.

Whatever your background, you’ll need to be:

- A motivational leader with a strong sense of personal integrity; able to inspire confidence and loyalty
- Self-motivated and resourceful; able to multi-task and focus on delivering results
- An enthusiastic team member who collaborates well with others and builds strong working relationships
- An articulate communicator who also recognizes the importance of listening
- Resilient, flexible, open to feedback and focused on achieving excellence
- Client-focused and committed to developing creative solutions
- Analytical and logical, with raw intellectual ability
