Blockchain Solutions Limited

Junior Blockchain Engineer

You will work in the development team on the successful and timely ongoing delivery of our various projects. The ideal candidate is task orientated and talented coder with a proven track record of quickly tackling technical problems and a hunger to become a full stack programmer.

Responsibilities:

- Participate in full development life cycle.
- Perform hands-on design, prototypes and proof-of-concepts and development as required in blockchain technologies or any other technologies.
- Deliver strategic technical solutions to match the requirement of clients.
- Prepare document on design, deployment and user manual, etc.
- Provide support various testing activities including unit testing, integration testing, user acceptance testing.
- Perform any other duties as assigned.

Requirements:

- Bachelor’s degree in Computer Science or relate discipline.
- 1-2 years of IT working experiences in programming. Fresh graduates are also welcome
- Experience in responsive web application development and familiar with on web framework (VudeJS, ExpressJS, AngularJS, ReactJS or others)
- Experience in backend application development such as using Java and J2EE.
- Experience in Spring boot, JMS, Rest API and any NoSQL DB is highly desired.
- Experience in Smart Contract development for Ethereum(Solidity) and Hyperledger Fabric(Golang), or R3 Corda or any other blockchain technology is an advantage.
- Fast learner with passion on new technologies & analytical thinking.
- Good command of spoken and written English, Cantonese and Mandarin
- Excellent interpersonal skills, self-motivated, team player, can work independently and under pressure

We offer 5-day work with good career prospects and excellent fringe benefits to the right candidates. Interested parties, please feel free to send a full resume with your expected salary and availability to: hr@blkchainsolutions.com
Junior Blockchain Support Engineer

You will work in the development team on the successful and timely ongoing delivery of our various projects. The ideal candidate is task orientated and talented coder with a proven track record of quickly tackling technical problems and a hunger to become a full stack programmer.

Responsibilities:
- Responsible for supporting installation / deployment, maintenance and monitoring on existing systems of related projects.
- Assist in performing and maintaining daily IT operations including but not limited to network and hardware support
- Communication with vendors for specifications and delivery
- Prepare technical documents and reports, implementation proposals and user manual
- Provide professional IT ad-hoc duties as required
- Willing to work occasionally on evening or overnight for supporting operation
- Travel to overseas or onsite working will be required on demand

Requirements:
- Bachelor’s degree in Computer Science or relate discipline.
- 1-2 years of IT working experiences in programming. Fresh graduates are also welcome
- Experiences in desktop/system support, including Windows and Linux
- Familiarity with the fundamentals of Linux server and commands.
- Experience on any cloud platform is an advantage.
- Ability to communicate security-related concepts to a broad range of technical and non-technical staff
- Fast learner with passion on new technologies & analytical thinking.
- Good command of spoken and written English, Cantonese and Mandarin
- Excellent interpersonal skills, self-motivated, team player, can work independently and under pressure

We offer 5-day work with good career prospects and excellent fringe benefits to the right candidates. Interested parties, please feel free to send a full resume with your expected salary and availability to: hr@blkchainsolutions.com